

A New Kind of Team-Building Workshop!

Jeff Civillico
Comedy in Action

Jeff designed and leads an interactive juggling workshop tailored specifically to the corporate market. An honors graduate of Georgetown University, Jeff transforms the process of learning how to juggle into a metaphor for tackling any new task. Jeff deconstructs the art of juggling into a systematic process that can be learned by anyone who is willing to break outside his or her comfort zone and focus every step of the way. Everyone, from interns to upper management, faces the same dynamic challenge, and works together to achieve a desired outcome. Companies love it because it reinforces essential workforce themes—determination, patience, and goal setting. Employees love it because it's a team-building program that is energetic, interactive, and fun.

"Jeff wowed the crowd at our annual leadership conference. He was funny, professional, and smooth, but best of all, he made the audience feel like part of his program. He received a standing ovation!"

- John Petruzelli, Director of Communication, Eastern PA Hugh O'Brien Youth (HOBY) Leadership Seminar

"Jeff teaches good, solid lessons about teamwork and communication in a fresh, active way. I've never seen this group laugh as much as they did at his presentation. Hire him. You won't regret it."

-Corporate Sales Manager, The Sportsmen's Lodge Events Center
